Abstract

1   A telecommunications node architecture is disclosed that comprises multiple add/drop

2   multiplexors that are interconnected in a novel topology to enhance the reliability of the

3   telecommunications network. Furthermore, the architecture of the illustrative embodiment ameliorates

4   the well-known "add-before-drop" problem.